

TIMBER MATS

START ON SOLID GROUND

Strad is committed to helping develop North America's resources responsibly and safely. To do this, Strad has continually worked to provide customers with superior solutions and services in the energy, construction, power transmission, pipeline and mining industries. Strad's Matting Solutions are an example of where we have made a name for ourselves as the leader for innovative and reliable matting products and services.

Strad's industrial matting solutions are always up to the task, no matter where you need to go. Our seasoned matting team provides temporary industrial access matting to help navigate tough terrain, protect the ground, and lower reclamation costs.
